Operation Desert Storm...

WAR ...

Nursing has always been a part of wars ...

Student's and faculty's first reaction when learning that "some of our own" were called to Active Duty, was that of shock and disbelief, which is so often the case when one experiences a loss. As is so typical of Charity, they responded with caring and moral support, and demonstrated their concern by tying a yellow ribbon around the tree in front of our school.

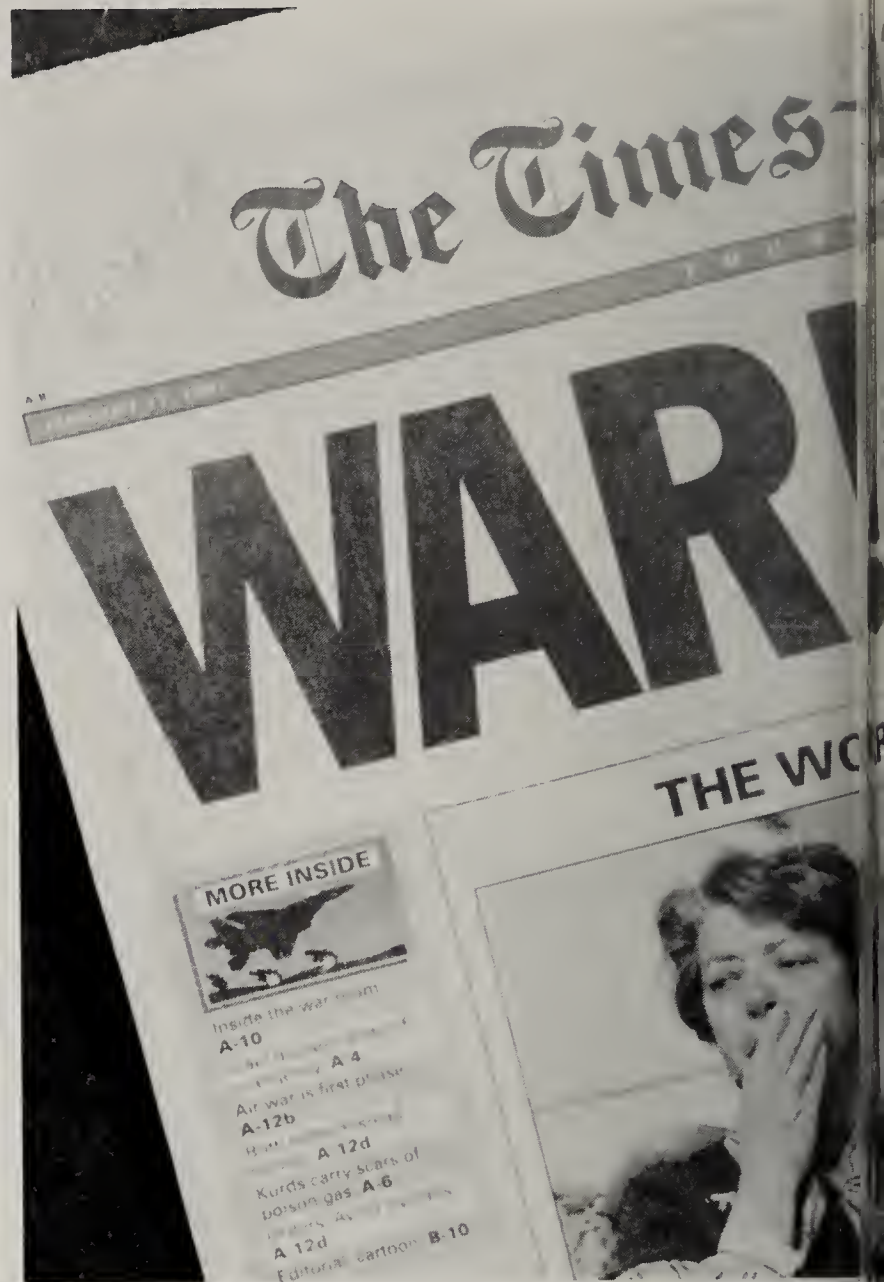

From a Counselor's point of view, many feelings have been expressed. There are deep feelings of sadness and anxiety about the outcome of this crisis. Students worry, they care, they want to help ... They pray!

The positive aspect of the calling up of students and faculty is that it has strengthened the Charity ties. This war is being fought for the very concepts that Charity teaches and that this country was founded on, ie:

- Lessen human suffering
- Preserve human life
- Protect the innocent and less fortunate
- Preserve human dignity

This is a time of coming together, of serving and giving and of being there for one another. Though war is sad and upsetting, it does provide a time for growth, for seeking a greater good and reaching for that higher ultimate goal.

From the Director

The spirit of Charity lives on as we move into the final decade of the twentieth century. Many changes have occurred during 1990 for which we are a stronger, more cohesive faculty and student body. The Persian War has contributed to our strength as a program, yet we are saddened that our faculty, graduates and students are involved in the conflict. We shall hold them in our hearts until they return to our Charity family.

From the editor ...

The traces through the forest of life are numerous and ever-changing. As new paths emerge (such as war, economic prosperity or recession) our new knowledge appears. We change, our schools and society change, and we alter our environment. We are survivors, for we are always going with the flow ...
